The 3-A SSI program reflected high interest this year in the number of applicants, the level of professional achievement and the number of awards granted. According to 3-A SSI Chair David Kedzierski (Cabot Cheese), “We have expanded our role in hygienic design education because it is a fundamental element of assuring food safety. The 3-A SSI program gives these future food industry professionals a great opportunity to gain in-depth knowledge about hygienic equipment design in the real world and network with a truly diverse group of industry leaders.”

Recipients of the 2017 awards demonstrated interest and commitment to food safety and quality as a student enrolled full-time in a food technology, food science, dairy science or other closely related program (undergraduate or graduate level) at a college or university in the U.S. or Canada. Award recipients were selected by a 3-A SSI review committee on the basis of a personal essay, official transcripts and a letter of recommendation from a faculty member or department head.
